

Technology Improves Senior Dining

Seniors today expect a variety of dining accommodations as they consider a senior living facility to best fit their needs. To stay competitive, foodservice operators are moving away from the standard offering of three meals per day, to managing multiple on-premise eateries and food stations; a challenging adjustment where the right technology makes a big impact. Our Take-Out solution supports operators as they evolve to keep up with consumer expectations by simplifying order management to improve the overall resident dining experience.

Tableside Dining

Staff members input resident orders on a tablet during scheduled mealtimes. Order details are automatically sent to the kitchen for preparation.

Anytime Ordering

Dining room closed? Residents place orders for on-premise cafés, coffee shops, or grab-and-go food stations outside of regular mealtimes.

Mobile Interface

Residents manage their accounts, view menus, and order meals from any web-connected device, selecting pick-up or room delivery times based on your operation's customized business rules.

Guest Checkout

With the convenience of guest checkout, visitors place orders without having to create an account, either on-site or prior to their visit.

Using CaterTrax in a retirement community has been such a blessing for our residents as well as associates. It simplifies so many steps we used to go through. The program is very easy to use and has been the "talk" in our community!

Makala Eberly, Dining Room Supervisor

